Kellerhals Carrard supports together with Swisscom the newly launched eSolidarity Initiative. This initiative aims to help Swiss technology start-ups minimizing the negative consequences of the Covid-19 crisis through mutual support.

As currently companies are dependent on home office and digital workplaces, the objective is using the services offered by innovative Swiss technology start-ups in order to continue working together efficiently because of their products. In this way, these start-ups will be prevented from abrupt revenue declines.
