Credit Suisse Asset Management has sold its minority stake in Energy Infrastructure Partners to the company's co-founders and managing partners for an undisclosed consideration. Energy Infrastructure Partners was established in 2014 as a joint venture between Credit Suisse Asset Management and the co-founders and has since become the largest investment group active in Swiss infrastructure.

Lenz & Staehelin has advised Credit Suisse in this transaction. The team included partner Tino Gaberthüel (pictured) and Simone Ehram (both corporate/m&a), Pascal Hinny and Lukas Aebi (both tax).
