The Japanese group Mabuchi Motor Co. acquired Swiss-based Electromag from a private shareholder. The acquisition of Electromag will allow Mabuchi to expand its sales to the medical market and increase its expertise in brushless motors.

Walder Wyss advised the seller on the transaction with a team led by Alexandre Both (partner, m&a, pictured) and included Monique Sturny (partner, competition), Hugh Reeves (managing associate, IP/IT), Grégoire Henriod (senior associate, m&a), Michael Schmassmann (associate, competition) and Lucas Nanchen (trainee lawyer, m&a).

Electromag is located in Ecublens in the Canton of Vaud. It specialised in the design and manufacturing of ultra-quiet high-speed motors for medical respirators and dental and orthopedic devices.
