Swiss LegalTech Association (Slta) has partnered with the Swiss Bar Association (Sba) to expand its continued effort to educate and inform about the latest legal tech developments in the Swiss market. This strategic partnership will be the occasion for Slta and Sba to provide a platform for active discussions, latest information and further training opportunities to all its members.

This agreement brings together two communities for a cross-disciplinary exchange and a chance to actively shape developments beyond each community. "We believe that the continued exchange between legal and tech is essential to raise awareness for current and future enabling opportunities in the daily practice of the Swiss law practitioner", Christoph K  ng, co-founder and President of Slta (pictured), comments. According to Ren   Rall, Secretary General of the Sba this is "a win-win situation that allows us to keep up to date with digital progress and to annually present Sba members with innovative as well as practical instruments".
